

Lecture Capture Exemplars

Individual Experience

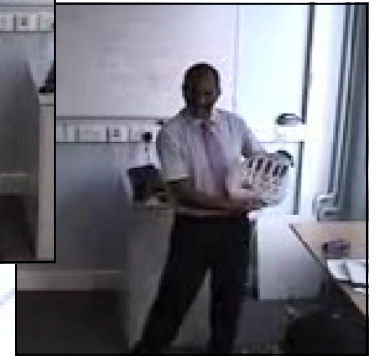

“I have to be honest and say it was a bit ‘let’s taste this, let’s try it, see how it goes from our point of view,’ then start saying ‘how can we use this to enhance the quality of what we do and enhance the student experience.’”

“The interesting thing is that you soon lost any sort of self-consciousness about it.”

Innovative Practice

“They’re all online, so they’re live lectures which have been recorded and that the students can then watch at any other time. ... They like to be able to see us, they like to have that interaction. It makes them feel as they’re a part of a programme rather than on a distance learning programme.”

Different Uses

“One idea that we’ve toyed with is actually doing podcasts with dissertation students that have just finished, about their experiences of doing their dissertation, so we can use that with students who are about to take their dissertation.”

Reflection & Change

“You can give a good lecture or a bad lecture but afterwards you just have a gut feeling that it could have been better or ‘that went well.’ But for the ones that were a bit iffy, what was it? You can look at the recording and go back there.”